Concierge Greenwich Forms Two New Strategic Partnerships

Greenwich, Connecticut (October 21, 2014). . . Concierge Greenwich is pleased to announce that it has formed strategic partnerships with two New York City-based luxury services companies, Garde Robe and Summitas.

Founded in New York in 2001, with locations in California, Florida and Las Vegas, Garde Robe is the world's first luxury wardrobe storage, valet and Cyber Closet service. Designed for fashion devotees with impeccable wardrobes, city residents with inadequate closet space, business travelers, globetrotters, multiple home owners and fashion designers, Garde Robe provides a host of elegant and convenient wardrobe management services, including "museum-quality" luxury storage for clothing, shoes and accessories, professional wardrobe photography, online Cyber Closet applications, complimentary pick up and ready-to-wear delivery, luggage-packing and shipping services, closet organizing, and many thoughtful garment care and valet services.

Garde Robe members enjoy 24/7 visual access to their wardrobe via the Cyber Closet, uncluttered closets year-round, worldwide access to all items in Garde Robe's care, the convenience of traveling without having to pack or carry a suitcase and peace of mind with the knowledge that their precious wardrobe is being handled and cared for by experts.

Necessity being the mother of invention, Garde Robe pioneered the Cyber Closet concept to fill a dire need for "white-glove" clothing storage and management services. "There is no shortage of high-end storage companies for one's art, wine or jewelry collections," remarked Adam Gilvar, President of Garde Robe. "However, Garde Robe remains the world's first and only company dedicated exclusively to protecting and organizing one's clothing, evening wear, footwear and accessories collections. And, truth be told, Garde Robe is much more than simply a storage facility.

Essentially, a Garde Robe membership is akin to employing a tech-savvy valet or butler to care for your wardrobe,” Mr. Gilvar added.

“Garde Robe works with couture collectors and fashion devotees throughout the tri-state area and our hallmark is service. Therefore, partnering with Concierge Greenwich is a natural fit as we join forces to ensure that all Garde Robe members in and around Greenwich enjoy the same level of service as our members living in Manhattan,” said Doug Greenberg, Vice President of Garde Robe.

In addition, Concierge Greenwich also recently signed a partnership agreement with Summitas, which has been at the forefront of a transformation in secure collaboration, communication and support for all stakeholders. Summitas is an innovative, state-of-the-art communications portal that enables the secure storage of digital documents, encrypted emails through a secure server and open, yet private family dialogues. The portal is targeted towards individuals or families of wealth and their family offices and professional services providers to enhance the performance and effectiveness of these offices.

“From the onset, Concierge Greenwich was able to grasp the importance of keeping personal matters private and how this is critical for their clients. Summitas continues to innovate for its clients to make sure that private communications are indeed secure but readily available when needed. We were therefore pleased to partner with Concierge Greenwich given our aligned goals related to the delivery of value added services and our focused commitment to clients,” commented Bill Wyman, CEO of Summitas.

Carol Goldstone, Managing Director of Concierge Greenwich, commented, “We are delighted to partner with Garde Robe and Summitas. Our company is continually on the lookout for unique proprietary services that we believe will be valuable to and enhance the lifestyle management of our clients and the Greenwich community.”

Mrs. Goldstone added, “Both the extreme weather variations and the demanding social, business and personal lifestyles of our area make a very compelling case for Garde Robe’s remarkable services that provide a seamless level of the highest and most thoughtful customer service. At the same time, privacy and security are consistently two of the most important concerns of our customers. While addressing these important concerns, Summitas has developed a remarkable collaborative platform that facilitates the building and broadening of relationships in a family’s community. Trusted advisors, the patriarch and family members across generations are able to share information, become engaged, discuss topics and keep current on private matters.”
